To whom it may concern

I am aware that FSANZ is commencing a review of the right to produce and sell raw milk and cheese products. As a concerned consumer, I would like to voice my concern that we are currently unable to purchase raw milk in Australia. I want to see it legalised as soon as possible. My son is unable to tolerate the milk available to us and yet when we are visiting relatives overseas, he has no trouble tolerating real unpasteurised and unhomogenised milk. I believe we have the right to choose ourselves whether we take the so called 'risks' in consuming these products. I believe in our current society we have enough knowledge to regulate the production to ensure the safety of the products. Raw milk has more health benefits and tastes better too!

Yours sincerely
