To whom it may concern,

I am writing to express my support for the legalisation of raw milk sales. As a health professional and appreciator of quality foods, I believe the benefits of raw milk consumption are far superior to those of milk that has been altered by pasteurisation. I believe that tolerance issues arising from the consumption of milk are minimised when the milk is unpasteurised. I believe the perceived risks associated with the consumption of raw milk are largely false and have been manufactured for reasons other than promotion and protection of public health.

The rights of conscious consumers to have access to raw milk are currently being denied. We do not ask that pasteurisation be outlawed just that those who know what's good for them and those who wish to provide such produce be allowed to connect.

Thank you for your time,

Samantha Tai
