Subject: Submission on A1193 Irradiation on all fresh fruits and vegetables.

Dear Sir/Madam

I very strongly oppose the planned irradiation of all fresh fruits and vegetables. There are some indications that it can be safe to irradiate, but that does not mean that irradiated foods retain their nutritional value. For example, all enzymes are highly likely to be destroyed.

Some time ago I looked into the effects of irradiation on fresh foods. However, I do not have the detrimental effects at my fingertips and I only have just found out that the government is sneaking this legislation through as quickly as possible against many people's knowledge and will, and the deadline for submissions is tomorrow. For that reason, I do not have time to produce a list of the detrimental consequences of irradiation.

However, if this goes through, I will present such a list well before the next state election and I will not ever vote for the government again but I will also actively lobby against the government. Sneaking through legislation suddenly against people's will is not something that is done in a real democracy.

To your health
